Peace Committee's Plan for Parade Entry OK'ed by Festival Committee

by Barbara Likowski

The Greenbelt Peace Committee will march in the Labor Day Parade after all. The committee's plan for a marching, singing group with the theme "Jobs, Yes-War, No" was accepted by the Festival Steering Committee last night. This came after an earlier rejection of the committee.

About a month ago the Peace Committee had submitted a similar plan but without details yet worked out. It had not been clear to the Steering Committee how many marchers there would be, whether they would be Greenbelters only (at one time the Peace Committee had contemplated asking other organizations to join them in the march), how the singing was to be carried out, by whom, etc.

To the Festival Committee members the first proposal was considered too vague; it did not meet the criteria of predictability and responsibility that the Festival Committee needed. In order to ensure an entertaining but not over-lengthy parade, the Festival Committee needs to know how many people will be in each group, what they plan to do and the name of one person who would be responsible for the actions of the group and who could be contacted about problems that might arise. The two main issues, Festival Chairperson Deana James said, were whether the groups had submitted materials (plans) and followed the guidelines.

Some Festival Committee members thought the Peace Committee did not belong in the parade because it represented an issue. Because the parade chairmen had had to assure military bands who had agreed to perform that there would be no demonstrations, they were leery of accepting what to them might possibly be just that. It was suggested that the group instead take part in the festival in other ways such as having a booth and/or taking part in the Salute to American Workers on Labor Day afternoon.

After meeting with its members, the Peace Committee decided to petition the Festival Committee again for permission to be in the parade. This time they told the Festival Committee they expected to have about 15 marchers but had not yet settled on a theme. One being considered was carrying a banner bearing the Biblical words, "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares."

Several members from the community also attended this meeting to support the idea of the group's being in the parade. Although an element of entertainment is looked for in all parade entrants, Greenbelt groups are usually not turned away even if the group just marches. The Festival Committee was told that the Peace Committee had been in Greenbelt for at least 15 years and was a responsible group. Peace Committee member Allen Lenchek said there was a democratic issue involved of full participation. Lenchek also told the group that the Peace Committee had indeed marched in other Labor Day Parades.

Past Participation

In 1966 the committee was not permitted to be a part of the festival, but in later festivals the Peace Committee not only marched in the parade but had had a booth and sponsored a display. Peace Committee member Bert Donn has photos of an early parade entry, cars and a station wagon with the "Dove of Peace" in front and the theme "Peace Now." Donn also remembers a float with children riding on it with the theme, "War is not healthy for children and other living things." Although there may have been other entries, the Peace Committee did not often participate because of the "sheer logistics" of the thing, Donn said. The Festival Committee asked that a definite proposal be submitted as soon as possible, assuring the Peace Committee that if this proposal met their guidelines, it would be accepted.

"Jobs—Yes, War, No" was the theme finally settled on by the Peace Committee and accepted last night by the Festival Committee. The Biblical theme, they discovered, could not be worked out in the short time remaining before the parade. The simplified plan calls for about 30 dressed in clothes of workers. Providing background music will be Carlos Van Leer and his concertina. (He'll dress as a clown). Becky Williams, chairperson for the Peace Committee, said that since a parade was chiefly for entertainment, the committee had turned down requests from people who wanted to wear Hiroshima symbols, adding that the parade was not the place for that. When asked, Williams said she did not object to the presence of groups whose ideas she could not accept. "If they put on a good show, I'll clap," she said.

Leta Mach, publicity chairperson for the Festival Committee, termed the original turnaround a

Girls Invited to Enter Miss Greenbelt Pageant

Rene Brooks, Miss Greenbelt Pageant participant, and a contestant of years past, encourages all eligible girls to enter the Pageant. She says that girls shouldn't fear the competition because, "if they come, they'll see we're all out there together and it's fun."

Carolyn Boone, last year's Queen, admits that she was scared when she entered. But both girls agree that it's not so much competition: it's really fun and friendship. "We were a team the whole time," explains Carolyn. The girls spent hours learning aerobic dance routines, decorating and building their float, having their pictures taken, and having other fun activities, including luncheons and banquets at area restaurants.

Rene sang "You Light Up My Life" for the Festival audience last year. The first year she was in the Pageant she won the Miss Theme award. She explains that she returns because she enjoys meeting new people and doing things that she wouldn't usually do in the summer.

Carolyn says that she was very surprised when she was chosen Queen. (Miss Greenbelt judges are disinterested individuals from out of Greenbelt.) One prize she won was a scholarship to the Barbizon School of Modeling. Participating in the Pageant and winning friends was a very worthwhile experience. "A once in a lifetime experience," she says.

County Council Candidate Night

Citizens for Greenbelt, Inc. will sponsor a Candidates' Night for Prince Georges County Council candidates from the 4th District at the Greenbelt Library on Wednesday, August 18 at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend and participate.

All candidates have been invited and will bring campaign literature. They are Republican Kenneth Powell and Democrats Richard Castaldi, Roy Dabney, A. James Golato and William Wildman.

Each candidate has been asked to make five-minute statement on (1) zoning issues, in particular development of Prince Georges County during the next four years—the kind of development, if any, that is appropriate in various sections of the county; and the role of public transportation, and (2) crime concerns—what can be done about the problems that are causing increasing crime, what are the solutions and how to get funding.

Barry Schlesinger, chairman of CFG's Planning and Zoning Committee, will chair the program. Questions from the audience will also be fielded by the candidates.

ERHS RECONSTRUCTION EXPECTS TO MEET AUGUST 23 DEADLINE

by Elaine Skolnik

Spokespersons for the Prince Georges County Board of Education said this week that construction work at Eleanor Roosevelt High School is on schedule. The deadline set for completion of the construction work is August 23. School starts on August 30.

Extensive repairs are being made to the walls of the school. The two stories of the west wall have been torn down and are now being rebuilt. The other three exterior walls will be reinforced.

Arthur Brown, chief building inspector of the county's Department of Licenses and Permits, was on site on Tuesday, August 10. He told the News Review that he went through the area of construction and talked with school authorities.

"Everything is scheduled to be completed by August 23 that would affect the conducting of classes and teachers coming in, he said, adding that the workers are doing a "fantastic job."

Picking up the $443,000 tab for the operation is the Maryland Casualty Company (MCC), the bonding company that took over responsibility for completing the school when the original contractor, Glassman Construction Company, ran into financial difficulties.

In exchange for satisfactory completion of the work, spokes-persons for MCC and the Prince Georges County Board of Education indicate they will no longer pursue suits filed with the court against each other. The school board will also make its final payment on the contract for the $9.5 million school building. Previously set at $270,000, the amount of the final payment has since been reduced considerably by expenses the board incurred for independent consultants and engineers.

Construction problems have plagued Roosevelt since its doors opened in 1978. The school has not yet been accepted into the county school system because the Prince Georges County Department of Licenses and Permits (DLP) will not issue a final use and occupancy permit until all plans and specifications have been met.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED IN GINSBERG DEFAMATION SUIT AGAINST GHI

by Elaine Skolnik

A new trial has been granted by Prince Georges County Circuit Court Judge James H. Taylor in the defamation case of Albert Ginsberg, former legal counsel to Greenbelt Homes, Inc. versus John M. Lewis, GHI Board member; Carl M. Conrad, former Board member and Audit Committee member, and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. The motion for the new trial, heard by Judge Taylor on July 23, had been taken under advisement. In question was the issue involving apportionment of damages.

The jury in the five-day July trial found for the plaintiff against defendants Lewis and GHI but not against Conrad. The jury awarded Ginsberg $4,000 in compensatory and $500 in punitive damages from Lewis and $6,000 in compensatory and $500 in punitive damages from the corporation.

The retrial has been scheduled for May 23, 1983. Wade Galliher of Galliher, Clarke, Martell and Donnelly, the firm representing the defendants and GHI's insurance company, said that Conrad will not have to stand trial again since the jury's verdict in favor of Conrad is final.

In granting a new trial, Judge Taylor wrote, "Upon further consideration of the Motion for Judgment N.O.V., or in the Alternative for a New Trial, namely on the issue of the jury's apportionment of damages between Defendant Lewis and Defendant Greenbelt Homes, Inc., the Court is of the opinion that the disparity between the two awards can not be cured. . . ."

What "can not be cured" is the jury's apportionment of the award of compensatory damages between the defendants Lewis and GHI. As Maryland courts have interpreted state law, the award must be in one amount against both defendants jointly and severally (separately); i.e. the defendants together are liable for the entire award and each would be liable individually for up to the entire amount of the award if the other were unable to pay.

Trial

The primary question that the jury faced was whether the qualified privilege of the remarks in question, having been made in the course of doing business, would apply or whether the privilege had been forfeited because of malice (a statement made that was knowingly false or made in reckless disregard for its truth or falsity).

The remarks leading to the suit against Lewis had been made at a meeting of the Board of Directors on December 11, 1980. The complaint filed by Ginsberg states that at that meeting Lewis "... publicly declared that plaintiff, an attorney at law who was then attorney for defendant Greenbelt Homes, Inc., was unethical and that plaintiff had taken valuable antique furniture from an estate

THANKS

To the Editors:

We appreciated very much the warm send-off party arranged by Pat and Charles Brown, Sandra and Alex Barnes, Mary Lou Williamson and Charles Schwan, and further want to thank the many friends and neighbors who have made our residence in Greenbelt such a rewarding time.

This unusual community is now a permanent and pleasant part of our experience.

Greenbelt High Graduates Planning Gala Reunion

A gala reunion of the graduates of Greenbelt High School, years 1938 to 1951, is being planned for October 2 at the Adult Education Center, University of Maryland. The nation's model community of the New Deal years, Greenbelt, has turned out more than 600 model citizens of the 80's. The combined reunion is the brain storm of several alumni living in this area — Bob Sommers, Donnie Wolfe, Kathleen McFarland, Ellen Domchick, Bill Harrison, and many others.

"Those Were the Days" will be the theme of the reunion dinner-dance. Former faculty and friends are invited to attend. Alumni who have not received written notice of the reunion are urged to contact: GHA Reunion, P. O. Box 513, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

Golden Age Club

by Blanche E. Lee

Arrangements have been made for a delightful trip to Washington, D.C. August 25 for a tour and movie at the Library of Congress; from there to the Woodrow Wilson House on Massachusetts Ave., where there will be a conducted tour for which there is a small fee. Then enjoy a leisurely lunch at Bish Thompson's Restaurant. Two buses will leave Suburban Bank at 9 a.m. The trip is open to Senior Citizen non-members. For reservations call Zelpha Parsons, 345-3904. Free bus fare for Club members.

The August 18 business meeting has been cancelled due to a conflict with Prince Georges County annual Senior Citizen picnic at Watkins Regional Park on the same date. The picnic bus will leave Greenbelt Suburban Bank at 9:40 a.m., return 2:15 p.m.

Just one more chance to make reservation for the special August 16 Kingston, Canada, Niagara Falls trip by calling Zelpha at above number.

To the Editor:

Recently I became very ill and had to be hospitalized very suddenly. It was an unexpected and frightening experience, for myself as well as my family. I was able to rest and recuperate faster, however, thanks to the many offers of help I received from friends and neighbors. I had many people caring for my three small children and my house and running various errands for me. I received so many, many offers of help. I am so appreciative to all of those who helped me.

Many, many thanks to you all! I have discovered that Greenbelt is, indeed, a "caring community."

Notice of PUBLIC HEARING

THE CITY COUNCIL HAS SCHEDULED A PUBLIC HEARING FOR

MONDAY, AUGUST 23, 1982 — 8:00 P.M.

TO RECEIVE CITIZENS COMMENTS ON PROPOSALS TO NAME

Greenbelt Lake in Honor of Franklin D. Roosevelt

AND

Greenbelt Lake Park in Honor of Albert S. "Buddy" Attick

Council had referred these proposals to the city's advisory boards who have submitted the following recommendations, which will also be considered at the public hearing:

- The Advisory Planning Board recommends that the Lake Park be named in honor of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt and that the Lake be formally named Greenbelt Lake. The Board further recommends that further study be done to find a suitable honor for Buddy Attick, perhaps, a Greenbelt museum or renaming of the Indian Springs Park.
- The Park and Recreation Advisory Board recommends that the renaming proposals not be adopted, as proposed, due to the fact that they involve a name change. The Board notes its approval of honoring Buddy Attick for his outstanding contributions to the city and recommends that an appropriate, significant, unnamed or a future parcel of city property be named for him.
- The Community Relations Advisory Board agrees with the proposal to name the Lake Franklin D. Roosevelt Lake and the Park the Albert S. Attick Park.

Bulletin

At its regular meeting on August 9, the City Council set August 23 as the date for a public hearing and special meeting to solicit public opinion on the question of renaming Greenbelt lake and Greenbelt Lake Park. A proposal has been made to rename these public areas in honor of Franklin D. Roosevelt in commemoration of the centennial of his birth. A proposal has also been made to rename these Greenbelt landmarks in honor of the late Albert S. (Buddy) Attick. In view of the conflicting nature of these proposals and the lack of unanimity in the recommendations of the city advisory boards to which the proposals were referred, the council passed a motion to hold a hearing on the matter on Monday, August 23. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the City Building.

GHI Board Approves Gutter Changes, Reverses Stand on Heating Units

by Sandra Surber-Smith

Despite postponing many items on a long agenda, the Greenbelt Homes Inc. Board of Directors were still in session for almost four hours at their July 29 meeting before adjourning to executive session. Taking the most time were far-reaching and sometimes confusing debates on a change in specifications for installation of gutters and a choice of wall heating units in kitchens and bathrooms. Earlier in the meeting, the board considered and approved a $75,000 commitment by GHI for 1.5 million in co-op equity loans for resale financing from the Prince Georges County Housing Authority.

Gutters

The board fully discussed a problem with gutters and downspouts which have been installed as part of the rehabilitation program. Many members whose units have the new gutters have experienced and reported water cascading directly off the roof and not being handled by the gutters. Management requested the board to approve a change in specifications, recommended by the consulting architects, to correct gutters already in place and to install the remaining gutters at a revised pitch. The work could be performed for an additional $13,000.

There were many questions. Some board members, notably

John Lewis and Frank Gervasi, felt that problems with gutters might be stopped strainers and debris. Board Member Don Volk wanted the change made only on future work to test that method of installation. Board President Jim Smith urged the board to accept management's solution, saying that all members were entitled to the best job possible. The board defeated, reconsidered and finally approved a motion to authorize the change in gutters for future work and for those already in place.

Heating units

Another lengthy debate occurred over how to carry out a motion from the previous board meeting which had approved alternative kitchen and bathroom heating units. Management reported that to offer members a choice of wall heaters would cost an additional $14,000 to the contract with Capitol Electric and add labor costs as well. In order to keep the heat conversion on schedule, wall units would have to be ordered in advance, management reported.

Board Members Margaret Hogenon and Janet Cantwell spoke in favor of providing choices for members but reluctantly agreed that in this instance it was too late to modify the contract. Speaking of the need for member input early in the development of contracts, both felt that offering members a choice at the discretion of field staff or on an arbitrary basis was not fair. Smith pointed out that many members had already accepted and installed the ceiling units. Changing the policy now, he said, would be unfair to them. Eventually the board reconsidered and defeated its earlier motion to make ceiling units optional. General Manager Tim Mitter reminded the board that wall or baseboard units will still be installed in bathroom and kitchens when it is not feasible to install a ceiling unit.

Resale financing

A last-minute notice by the Prince Georges County Housing Authority to issue $35 million for single family mortgage bonds had management and the board scrambling to consider a 1.5 million loan offer for financing resales in GHI. By July 30, the day after the Board meeting, GHI had to submit a letter to authorize a commitment fee of $75,000 to obtain the resale loan financing.

The financing, probably to be administered by Community Savings and Loan, would be used for purchasers who have not owned a home in the last three years—generally first-time home owners. It would add greatly to the resources available for buyers and sellers in GHI. GHI would recover its commitment fee from sales transactions. If the whole allocation is not used, however, GHI would lose that portion of the commitment fee. The board approved the commitment fee.

Other Action

The board approved a bid by Diamond Insurance Company for a workmen's compensation policy at a cost not to exceed $58,735, referred a member's unresolved request to build a deck and privacy screen to executive session,

Slate Opens Office

Councilman Tom White and Jeanette Gordy, candidates for the Democratic Central Committee, invite all Greenbelt residents to the opening of their campaign headquarters located in the Bowie Office Park, 14300 Gallant Fox Lane, Suite 204, 8 p.m., Aug. 12.

Besides headquarters for White and Gordy, the site will be primary headquarters for State Senate candidate Leo E. Green and his running mates, incumbent delegates Jerry Devlin and Charles "Buzz" Ryan, and Democratic Central Committee candidate, JoAnne O'Brien, Bowie.

The headquarters will be open Tuesdays through Saturdays until the September 14 primary election. Volunteers and the public are welcome at the open house. For info, call 464-5350.

and deferred two requests for exemption to the standard heating system to a later meeting. (Later, the News Review was informed by Assistant Manager Shakar Narasimhan that in Executive Session the Board had approved the hiring of a private investigator to assist in obtaining evidence, investigating and resolving cases of theft and damage reported during the rehabilitation work.)

REHAB INFORMATION

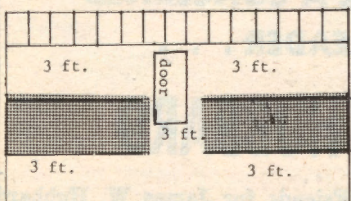

The Rehabilitation Program is one of GHI's major concerns. Board and staff members are always working to see that rehab proceeds smoothly to benefit all GHI members.

VINYL SIDING

On August 3, the GHDC Board voted to terminate the vinyl siding contract with Beltway Aluminum Company. Management immediately began negotiations with several firms for the completion of the vinyl siding work. The job will be finished quickly and professionally in the best interests of GHI members.

ATTIC PREPARATION

The insulation contractor, Davenport Insulation, has begun work on masonry homes. The contractor would like to pass along the following attic preparation tips. Areas near the eaves and access doorway should be clear. Storage can be located near the middle of the attic as shown in the shaded portions of the diagram below.

Festival Notes

Only three weeks remain until the Labor Day Festival begins. Greenbelters will find many of their old favorites as well as new activities. Used books, hidden treasure, food, are only a few of the treats in store for the Labor Day weekend.

Miss Greenbelt

The Miss Greenbelt Pageant desperately needs girls from Greenbelt. The Festival committee has lowered the age to 14 at which girls can participate. A Greenbelt girls 14-19 are urged to call Jean Cook (345-2597). Prizes donated for this event include a wrist watch, diamond earrings, dinner at Denny's, Co-op gift certificate photos, haircuts from the Hair Cuttery and tickets to Academy 6 Theaters. All participants have also been invited to Wild World.

Art Show

Both children and adults are encouraged to enter their original works of art in the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Art Show. In addition to the usual judging and awarding of prizes, there will be two special awards this year. One will be the Cipriano Award given to the adult whose entry best illustrates the theme "Americans at Work." The other will be the "Community Favorite" award, given to the adult whose work receives the greatest number of votes from the guests who visit the Art Show.

Registration forms may be obtained from posters at Safeway, the Slimmery, the Youth Center, the Twin Pines office of Community Savings and Loan, the Greenbelt Library, and the Beltway Plaza Community Bulletin Board. The deadline for registration is August 30.

Special Contests

Special contests will take place on Saturday, September 4, from 2 to 4 p.m. The traditional favorite, the Diaper Derby, will begin the fun at 2 on the grass in front of the library. Check closely the following events and age groups because they are all new: Toddler Race, ages 1 and 2; Clown Race, ages 3 and 4; Firemen's Relay, ages 5-7; Three-legged Race (Partners), ages 8-10; Egg on a Spoon Relay, ages 11 and 12; breakdown in communications. Williams agreed and spoke affirmatively about her group's contacts with the festival group.

Last night the Festival Committee received the resignation of Mike and Gwen Vaccaro as co-chairs of the parade. The Vaccaros stated that they did not feel that they could continue in a festival management role so long as the Peace Committee was permitted to march. As parade co-chairs, they had been the ones who had signed a form sent by the military bands stating that no demonstrations would be involved in the parade. They plan to continue to work for the festival in non-leadership roles.

David Lange and Wayne Williams have agreed to share the responsibility for the parade. This is the fourth time that Lange has stepped in at the last minute to take over the immense load of work the parade entails. Williams has been parade chairman for the past 6 years. Neither had anticipated working on the parade this year but agreed to serve so that the parade could go on.

Balloon Toss, ages 13-17 and adults (18 and over). Prizes and ribbons will be awarded. Start practicing!

Used Books

Used books are urgently needed for the Greenbelt Center School used book booth. Donation boxes are located at Co-op, the Twin Pines office of Community Savings and Loan, Greenbriar Community Center and Suburban Trust. To arrange pickup of books, individuals can call 474-5888 or 474-1706.

NEW TRIAL, cnt. fr. p1

in which there were no heirs and had sold the same, he being personal representative of the decedent."

The claim against GHI was based on the statement allegedly made by Lewis. The complaint alleged that Lewis was acting within the scope of his authority as a director and agent of GHI, thereby making the corporation responsible for his action. The complaint further alleged that the corporation accepted and ratified Lewis' statement when the board of directors subsequently voted to terminate Ginsberg's employment as general counsel for GHI.

The jury awarded damages to Ginsberg from Lewis and GHI. Conrad was absolved. In the original complaint it had been alleged that he had made statements similar to those of Lewis.

Ginsberg is represented by James D. Newton of Silver Spring.

Comedy, Drama Plays at Utopia

The Greenbelt Players presentation of Noel Coward's Fumed Oak and David Mamet's The Water Engine will play for two weekends at the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center, Friday and Saturday, August 14, 15, 20, 21 at 8:15 p.m. A Sunday matinee will be held at 2:30 p.m. Both plays are directed by Bruce Lloyd.

Fumed Oak is a comedy set in a middle class English home in the 1930's. Three members of the Gow family are constantly bickering; Elsie, the spoiled, strong willed daughter; Doris, the self-sacrificing put-upon wife; and Mrs. Rockett, the nagging mother-in-law. Henry Gow, the father, seems to ignore them all, but in the second scene he behaves unexpectedly. Cast: Henry Gow—Craig Mooring; Doris—Marie Tousignant; Elsie Gow—Kelly Holl; Mrs. Rockett—Mary Yurkovich.

The Water Engine was a radio play on National Public Radio and was performed on stage in New York, Chicago, and Washington, D.C. This drama takes place in Chicago in 1934 against the background of a World's Fair. Part of the play is set in a radio studio and part is acted out. The story concerns a young man, Charles Lang, who invents an engine that runs on distilled water. He is naive and falls afoul of two crooked patent attorneys who threaten him and kidnap his sister to procure the engine and plans. Main characters: Charles Lang—Kenny Holl; Rita Lang—Joanne Bauer; Dave Murray, the newspaperman—Jeff Beyrent; Martin Gross, patent attorney—Tom Schreiber; Lawrence Oberman, patent attorney—Spike Parish; Marie Tousignant and Trix Whitehall—soapbox speakers and several other roles. Voice over barker—Joe Ross.

These two plays, the comedy and the drama provide entertainment for the entire family. Many of the actors are Greenbelt residents.

Tom Schreiber, who designs and builds all of the sets, will be making his acting debut.

GHI NOTES

The Member and Community Relations Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. on August 12. One meeting scheduled for next week is the regular rehab information meeting on Monday, August 16. Members who will have rehab work in the near future are encouraged to attend from 5 to 6:30 p.m. in the GHI Board Room.

Only three weeks are left until Labor Day and GHI through the Member and Community Relations Committee is busily planning participation in the Labor Day Festival. Volunteers are needed to staff the GHI booth, donate prizes and march in the parade. GHI would like to have many youngsters march with its float. Prizes will be awarded to the best-costumed youngsters. Many GHI members and employees have donated prizes for the booth's hidden treasure game. Newest donations include an antique candleholder, a small jar of hot Indian pickles, one azalea plant, cookies, a totempole teapot and a tennis lesson. Call Dennis Lewis (474-6644) to pledge a prize.

Pitkin Campaigning Here

Delegate Joan Pitkin is now campaigning for reelection door-to-door in Greenbelt's north end, along with Greenbelter Patrick Needham, who is running for Democratic Central Committee and coordinating Pitkin's campaign in Greenbelt.

Pitkin will start campaigning in precinct 21-3, south Greenbelt soon, where she will walk with Joseph G. Brown, one of Greenbelt's original residents.

"I have had a very warm welcome from nearly everyone I have spoken with in Greenbelt," Pitkin said recently. "I think I worked hard for the city during my past four years in the House of Delegates, and most recently, during the County Council redistricting battle, where I tried to secure an amicable divorce for Greenbelt from Bowie."

Pitkin's campaign plans to hold campaign coffees in Greenbelt.

Pitkin had a career in publishing and public relations prior to running for state legislator.

Recreation Review

Labor Day Tennis Tournament

The City of Greenbelt's '82 Open Tennis Tournament is sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department and co-sponsored by the Greenbelt Tennis Association. The tournament will be held on August 28, 29 and September 4, 5 and 6, 1982. Events will include two flights of Men's and Women's Singles, Mixed Doubles and one flight of Women's Doubles.

In-person registration will be accepted at the Youth Center Business Office weekdays 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., August 16 through 24, or by mail to the Greenbelt Recreation Department, Attn: Tennis Tournament, 25 Crescent Rd., Greenbelt, Maryland 20770. Make checks payable to City of Greenbelt. No entries will be accepted on Wednesday, August 25.
